

Wilderness Wanderings

Post Exodus year 2, issue 1

In this issue:

Aaron and Miriam died of vitamin deficiency.

Inside story by the “sons of Korah.”

(In memory of our courageous uncle.)

Where’s the milk and honey?

Lawsuit pending the locating of a lawyer willing to take the case.

Economic consequences:

Sandal makers face ruin as sandals made in Egypt do not wear out.

Why we should go back:

Rethinking the job security of slavery.

Leaks and onions are not the only benefit.

Geological instability caused the rift that ended Korah’s peaceful protest.

No danger to the public as experts give up the search for bodies.

Superstitious leaders still attribute natural disasters to “Yahweh”.

Why we will need boats to recross the Red Sea.

What the spies really saw!

Informers contradict assumption that we could have been victorious.

Who is this Moses anyway?

Unanswered questions about his parentage and upbringing.

His criminal past revealed.

Was it right for Moses to marry into a Midianite priestly clan?
